Moms

by Dave Dunn

Mothers are a special lot
There’s nothing mine wouldn’t do.

She’d give her life without a thought of what it’d put her through.

No sacrifice is ever too great
no group of them too many.

When a mom sees a need
she gives and gives up plenty.

Paltry was the thanks she got
that never slows her down.

She stood and she delivered
when no progress could be found.

My world is quite together now
her lessons did come back.

I’m healthy and I know it.
I’ve got my life on track.

Her plan for me is working in what I say and do

to those I happen on.

Her essence is all over me
her influence profound;

I will share the love she gave
as long as I’m around.
