Standing “O”

by David A. Dunn

Before there was anything including space
God was wondering what to place
Into the are and what to share
And after all, who would be there.

Plants and animals return to dust.
To keep Him company He made us,
With looks, a soul, a memory and such,
Free will, imagination, and sex,
(Thank you very much.)

On the prettiest item in the sky,
On this blue marble go you and I
To live and grow in relative bliss
In a quest for happiness.

Before us Adam and Eve were sent
Who shortly met with a ser-pent
And with their ego He did fool
So they broke the only rule.

To fix the damage they had done
God later sent His only Son.
He changed the rules for all the rest
From now on, we must invest.

A test, a quest, a grade to make
Will be needed to partake.
With Him first they’re only plusses.
Living simple cuts the fusses.

On our plate are things to do
And have and eat and show up to
And God is there as one who’s struggling
Will you help or stay home snuggling?

We’re all running out of dating
To enjoy the encore waiting,
Live His way and let it show
So your life is His Standing “O”
